Revisions to the Colorado Retail Food Establishment Rules and Regulations will take effect March 1, 2013. To ensure operators are familiar with the revisions, the Division of Environmental Health and Sustainability has worked in collaboration with State Food Safety to develop an online training of the major changes to the revised Colorado Retail Food Establishment Rules and Regulations.

- ◆ This training is available for a fee of $2.50 for any retail food operator or food handling employee that wishes to take the course.

The training includes audio, so headphones are recommended. After a short test, students will be able to print their Certificate of Training.

A course will be available in Spanish by February 2013.
